A splendid boquet of roses and tube roses decked the Great Law Giver's desk this morning and was much admired be-fore the Great Ruler of the people touched the button that set the machinery of justice in motion.

The Great Dispenser was as busy yes-terday as a man selling circus tickets on the edge of the crowd, and tore through the knots of people standing in the corri-dors, scattering the people like a fast team driving through a flock of geese, taking no more notice of the salams of his constituents than a race-horse would a rab-

Joseph Neiz was charged with beating his wife Bessie Niez and cursing and abusing her cousin, Miss Stanly.

It was shown that Mrs. Neiz had pur-Hooper, in the September Ladies' Home Journal. "The fob is worn with the chatelaine watch; odd brooches are set as belt clasps, and the embroidery figures no matter how odd the silk, cloth, or as a yoke, V, or revers on waist or jacket velvet may be, or where it came from, so long as it is antique. New buttons for ornamental purposes (for buttons are not supposed to be useful nowadays) resemble ancient brooches, and lovely pendants are of the old-fashioned mini-tures. Grandmothers who saved such bits are now in high favor, for 1900 is a dressy year, with bizarre effects, softened by good taste and beautiful tints. His Accusers Claims That He Obtained Money From Them Under False Pretenses-Bailed for His Appearance Next Wednesday.

Deputy United States Marshall U. M. Bland, yesterday morning arrested Charles H. Smith, who up to sometime ago has peen conducting an employment bureau at No. 1529 East Franklin Street, upon a warrant sworn out by Postoffice Inspector J. W. Buller, charging him with using the mails for fraudulent purposes in connection with his business. He was afterwards balled for his appearance before Commissioner Pleasants on Wednesday

For about two years complaints, have been made to the Post-Office Department by parties with whom Smith was dealing, and as far back as a year ago he was rep-rimanded and warned by one of the inspec-tors and promised to do better.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

It seems to have been his habit, from statements made by Government officials yesterday, to advertise extensively that he was in a position to furnish servants from his bureau, and upon receipt of money to cover his fees and transportation of servants, would drop the correspondence.

The inspector who swore out the war-ant had a great mass of data upon which to make out his case, but it is under-stood that the Government will pick out the case of a Northern customer, who sent his check to Mr. Smith in April, 1900, and who never got a servant nor his money, and make its fight on that. HAS THE CHECK.

The check for $11.50, which is endorsed by "Charles H. Smith & Co.," is in the hands of the inspector, together with a protested draft which the customer made on Smith on May 21st, 1900, upon his failure to get back his money or to get the

"So far as I know, during the adminis-tration of Sergeant Epps, there was only one key to the cell occupied by "Topeka Joe." It is, therefore, wonderful how he managed to get an impression of it. The alarm wires that extend around the top of the jail walls failed to work at the time Joe made his escape. These wires are connected with a drum in the office, and at the slightest touch a great noise was made in the office. Frequently the touch of a bird on the wires would create commotion in the office." City Electrician Thompson says that "Topeka Joe" made the key to fit the lock because he was a master of the mechanism of locks. "He probably inserted a soft piece of wood in the lock and grad-ually took the impression of the nicks in the lock, shaping up the key accordingly. It is an easy matter for such men to do this. # A NEW CENSUS IS DEMANDED

Mayor Taylor Would Approve an Appropriation.

MORGAN R. MILLS TALKS. He Would Call off all City Privileges of IlThose Who Move into the Suburbs

Unless Boundary be Extended. A comparison of the census by a directory man of twenty-five years' experience gives the following facts: There are now in the City Directory 32,000 names, not including married women and children under eighteen years of age. It is a conclusion of directory men in general from long experience and com-parisons that the city directories only con-tain about one-third of the population. This would give Richmond a fair population of 96,000, not including the suburbs. Postmaster Wray T Knight says that he delivers mail to 20,000 people, over a territory of five and a half square This does not include the regular post-offices, and would with Manchester and Barton Heights give a total popula-tion to Richmond of about 130,000 people. It has been ascertained that on one block of eight houses in the West-End as many as fourteen persons were skipped by the census enumerators. WAS NOT FAIR. Mayor Taylor said yesterday that he agreed with Major Howard in what he said about the census of Richmond.

"I do not think we have given the world "I do not think we have given the world a fair representation of our population," he said. "I feel certain that thousands of people have been overlooked in the canvass, and I am ready at any minute to approve the action of the City Council in appropriating a sufficient sum of money to defray the expenses of a police census. The police are in a position to take the census more accurately than any other class of people.

"Besides the thousands that I believe have been overlooked in the city, there are thousands more, who are in the out-lying districts, receiving all the benefits of citizenship, who do not count because of the izenship, who do not count because of the limited corporate boundaries, They should be taken into the city," said the

FIGURES WRONG. FIGURES WRONG.
Councilman Morgan R. Mills said there was no doubt in his mind that the figures were wrong by several thousand at least, "I am in favor of shutting off all city conveniences to those who live beyond the city's boundary line, and who are receiving sewer, water and light privileges, while they are corributing nothing toward. while they are contributing nothing toward the treasury of the city in the way of taxation.

"Our citizens are frequently forced to put up with short water supply in order that outsiders may enjoy the privilege of using the city mains. "If our people who live in the suburbs do not care to help make the city rise to the first-class of cities, then the city should deny them the privileges that go

"We should extend our boundaries and get among the metropolitan cities."

Councilman Glenn favors expansion, so far as the city's limits go, and would like to see Barton Heights, Chestnut Hill, Lee District and Fulton Heights all under one roof. WERE INEXPERIENCED. "The census is, in my opinion, inaccurate. I am in no position to criticise the manner in which the enumeration was conducted. I believe those who took the conducted. I believe those who took the census did the best they could. But in-experienced men cannot do the work like the police can, and I am in favor of having a police census at an early day.

"The size of a city goes a long way toward showing the world at large the character and size of its business affairs, and as a citizen of Richmond, and one who has its interests at heart, I wish to see an accurate count."

an accurate count."

Captain J. A. McLaughin, special agent of the Census Department, said yesterday morning that he believed the census for Richmond had been fairly and honestly taken, and that the enumerators had done that dury their duty. The captain stated that the men were named by the Bureau at Washington from the list of competitive examinations purely on merit, and that their political complex-
